OTT

A Professional,
Honorary Society
Recognizing Leaders in Vocational & Technical Education

Purpose of OTT

Omicron Tau Theta (OTT) is a national honorary professional graduate society in vocational and technical education. The society was established by Dr. Anthony G. Porreca in 1976 at the University of Tennessee to acknowledge the achievement of graduate students, professional educators, and leaders in business, industry, and government in vocational and technical education.

Goals of OTT

- ◆ To foster a closer relationship among schools, government, business and industry, and members of the society.
- ◆ To promote the benefits of vocational and technical education in relation to the individual, society, and work.
- ◆ To assist and encourage members in their professional development and achievement.
- ◆ To encourage research in vocational and technical education.
- ◆ To acquaint members with the results and benefits of research.

Reasons for Becoming a Member

One may become a member of OTT to foster leadership, to recognize scholarship and creativity, to provide professional ethics, and to encourage excellence in educational practice. These ideals are accomplished through the cooperation of professional leaders in vocational and technical education, business, industry, and government.

Benefits of Membership

- ⇒ The Journal of Vocational and Technical Education published both on paper and electronically;
- ⇒ Omicron Tau Theta National Newsletter;
- ⇒ Electronic Discussion Group for topics in vocational and technical education;
- ⇒ Research and Professional Development sessions at the American Vocational Association convention and in local chapters;
- ⇒ Recognition through awards and leadership positions;
- ⇒ Social interaction among colleagues.

Becoming a Member of OTT

To become a member of OTT, contact a member of an active society or chapter near you. If there is not an active chapter in your vicinity, you may contact the National OTT Executive Director (see back of brochure) for information about the organization. The Executive Director can assist you with chartering a new chapter or arranging your membership in a distant chapter in order to gain the benefits of OTT.

Organizing a New Chapter of OTT

You must have at least nine other people who qualify for membership and who are committed to active membership and participation in OTT functions.

Contact the National Executive Director of OTT who will provide you with the criteria and specific steps for organizing a chapter in your area.
